Commissioners Focus on Strategic Marina Development

The Port Mission

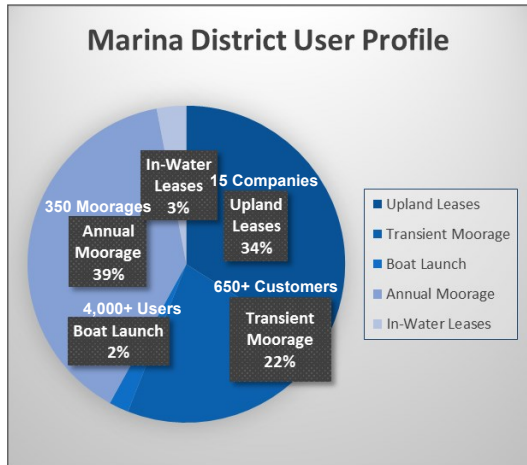

The Westport Marina District is a shining example of the Port's mission of economic development, international trade and tourism. Every day, the activities in and around the marina drive our economy forward, providing direct benefit to thousands.

With a focus on the continued strategic development of the Westport Marina District, the Port of Grays Harbor Commissioners analyzed the business trends of the Marina, identifying opportunities for continued growth and development. During the September workshop, marina users and stakeholders from fishing, tourism, seafood processing and the community shared information on their industries and identified trends they see for the future.

"Our diverse user base is what strengthens the Westport Marina, such diversity provides confidence in the continued investment in the facility, the users and the community." reported Molly Bold, Westport Business Manager.

Partnerships total more than $20 million in Investments

Over the past ten years, and through 2020, the Port of Grays Harbor and our partners like the US Army Corps of Engineers, Washington State and Grays Harbor County will have invested more than $20 million in infrastructure and operations at the Westport Marina. "Leveraging our limited financial resources from user fees and taxes with partnerships through grants and private investments is a key strategy of the Port's," reported Port Executive Director Gary Nelson. "Our goal is to do the planning in advance so we are ready to seize opportunities for new business or new investments, public or private, in order to better serve our diverse users."
